Section One: Introduction

Welcome!

Welcome to the Study Guide for the Certified Corrections Professional (CCP) Examination. Whether you are in adult corrections, juvenile justice, correctional nursing, or work with security threat groups, this guide should provide helpful hints and information that you can use while preparing for, and taking, your CCP exam.

How can this Study Guide help me?

This guide will help you understand what the exam is all about and improve your chances of achieving your goal of becoming a CCP. It is divided into four basic sections:

- 1) Overview—a broad picture of the exam basics
- 2) The subject areas for each exam level—what you need to know to pass the exam successfully
- 3) Preparing for the exam—tips for studying and a review of the key types of questions on the exam
- 4) Taking the exam—tips for succeeding on exam day

The information contained in this guide will help you study, take, and pass the CCP exam. With the right attitude, time, dedication, and perseverance, anyone preparing for the exam is capable of passing. Do not be afraid to reach out to friends, family, co-workers, or mentors for help in studying. Do not be intimidated by the task before you—instead, look at the CCP exam as an opportunity to prove what you know and to join the ranks of those professionals who have come before you!

Section Two: Overview

What is covered on the exam?

Developed under the guidance ACA's Commission on Professional Certification for Corrections, CCP exams are based on the knowledge and skills required for each certification level. While the study materials are not required, we highly recommend that you use them.

CCP exams cover different knowledge and skills. For example, the set of knowledge and skills for Correctional Officers is different than the set for Supervisors, Managers, and Executives. For those in specialized areas, such as Correctional Nurses and Security Threat Group managers, the CCP exam contains questions specific to those areas. Subject areas for the exams can be found in Section III.

Each exam contains of 200 questions consisting of two types:

- A. Multiple Choice
- B. True/False

Tips for answering these types of questions can be found in Section IV.

In order to pass the exam, you must score at least 70%. Those who receive a score of 90% or higher will earn a "Pass with Honors" certificate.

Where can I get my study materials?

Materials for CCP exams are available over the phone or online. To order, call 1-800-222-5646 or log onto www.aca.org/store/bookstore/search.asp. The list of study materials and their order code number can be found at the end of each subject area in Section III.

Section Three: Exam Subject Areas

Overview

The subject area for your level will give you a basic idea of what information to look for in the readings and what areas you might need to brush up on. Section IV will take you through the study process.

Section IV: Preparing for the Exam

Creating a Study Plan

In order to make the most of your time and learn effectively, you must create a study plan and stick to it. A good study plan, such as the one outlined below, will help you with your reading, note taking, organization, and studying.

A) Identifying key points and ideas

When you are reading, do not try to memorize every word or every sentence. There simply is no way to retain all the information presented in the materials. Instead, try to identify the main point of every sentence and how that adds to the main point of every paragraph. Then, identify the main point of the paragraph itself. Sometimes, it might be helpful to narrow down the subject or point of the paragraph into one or two words, and write those word(s) in the margin next to the paragraph. This will help you later when reviewing the material. Highlighting the main points in the publication can be helpful.

Pay special attention to the first and last sentences of each paragraph. These sentences will identify for you the main point and purpose of the paragraph. Every sentence after that should be related to the topic identified in the first sentence. The final sentence of the paragraph will wrap-up the idea and brings all the information in the paragraph together while linking to the next idea in the next paragraph.

Examples

The follow examples from Correctional Law for the Correctional Officer, 5th Edition illustrate highlighting key points.

Monetary damages are available under Section 1983. Damages are of the following three types.

1. Nominal. Where the plaintiff's rights were violated but the plaintiff can show no actual harm, the plaintiff is entitled only to "nominal" damages, usually $1.00.

2. Compensatory. These compensate the plaintiff for injuries actually suffered. They include such objective factors as lost wages and medical expenses. Compensatory damages also cover more subjective forms of loss such as pain and suffering and mental anguish....

3. Punitive. Punitive damages are intended to punish the wrongdoer and deter similar sorts of conduct by others in the future. They usually are awarded only when the defendant knowingly violated the Constitution and/or acted in reckless disregard of the rights of the plaintiff.

In early 1990, the Supreme Court looked at the question of whether similar due process protections were necessary to involuntarily medicate a mentally ill inmate in Washington v. Harper. The Court said a judicial hearing was not needed, but also said that “We have no doubt that (the inmate) possesses a significant liberty interest in avoiding the unwanted administration of antipsychotic drugs under the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.”<sup>16</sup> Having decided that the decision to involuntarily medicate the inmate was protected by due process, the Court then indicated what sorts of circumstances would permit medicating the inmate and approved the procedures being followed by the State of Washington, where it arose.

A person with a serious mental illness and who was dangerous to himself or herself or others may be medicated, when the treatment is in the inmate’s medical interest, said the Court. The Court approved a hearing process for making these determinations, which somewhat resembled an inmate-disciplinary hearing, although it included some greater procedural protections (the right to cross-examine witnesses, the right to be assisted by someone who understood the psychiatric issues involved, and a three-person hearing panel that included mental health experts). In 1992, the Supreme court said that in certain circumstances pretrial detainees also could be involuntarily medicated<sup>17</sup>.

B) Taking good notes

Taking good notes is essential to an effective study plan. As you read the material, write down the most important points and how they relate to the overall theme of the book/work. Your notes do not have to be word for word out of the material—they are meant to be a summary of the material for you to review later. Write simple, bulleted notes that will be easy to remember and will help your mind to recall what was listed in the reading. Making clear, legible notes will allow you to organize them and use them well.

Examples

The following notes are based on the highlighted text from pages 27 and 160 of Correctional Law for the Correctional Officer, 5th Edition. They represent only one style.

Civil Lawsuits (Page 27)

3 Types of Monetary Damages

1. Nominal. Person's rights have been violated but s/he can't show any actual harm. Damages are "nominal" and usually $1.00.
2. Compensatory. Person is compensated for the injuries s/he suffered—e.g., medical expenses. Also covers pain and suffering and mental anguish....
3. Punitive. Intended for punishment and deterrence. Usually are awarded only when the defendant knowingly violated the Constitution and/or acted in reckless disregard of the rights of a person.

Due Process and Involuntary Medication (Page 160)

U.S. Supreme Court: Washington v. Harper (1990)

- The decision to involuntarily medicate an inmate is protected by due process.
- judicial hearing is not needed
- an inmate with a serious mental illness who is a danger to himself or herself or others may be medicated when the treatment is in the inmate's medical interest
- requires hearing process that resembles an inmate-disciplinary hearing, but it includes some greater procedural protections: the right to cross-examine witnesses, the right to be assisted by someone who understood the psychiatric issues involved, and a three-person hearing panel that included mental health experts

U.S. Supreme Court: Riggins v. Nevada (1992) (footnoted)

- Pre-trial detainees can be involuntarily medicated in certain circumstances

C) Organizing your materials and thoughts

After you have taken your notes, you need to organize them neatly and logically. Since chapters in books are divided into sections, you should separate your notes into those same sections. This arrangement will help you keep your notes in a logical order. Be sure you write the page number to each section so that you can refer back to the book later. Also note the subject area that the section covers.

Once you have taken good notes, it is important to organize the material so that it can be easily reviewed later. Consider using a binder or folder to organize all your notes in order so that you can read easily through them. This will help you to remember the material from the book and to succeed on your test!

D) Using checklists

Use the checklists provided in this study guide (see Section III) to make sure that you have covered all of the material that is going to be on your exam. You should have a thorough understanding of the bulleted topics under each subject.

For example, under ETHICS/LAW, you need to know the “discovery process.” What is the definition of the “discovery process”? What are the steps of the process? What are the key terms under each step?

Remember that these are broad topics. You need to know the key information that relates to each topic. If you find a topic that you feel you are not prepared for, you should go over it again in the book and/or notes until you feel ready.

What are some tips for effective studying?

In order to do well on the CCP exam, you must prepare! Proper study techniques and dedication could mean the difference between passing and failing. Here are some general tips to help you along the way:

- 1) Keep a positive attitude!
- 2) Study in a quiet environment so you can focus. If you have questions or trouble, a small group study session could be helpful. Having a friend or family member quiz you on the information might be helpful as well.
- 3) When studying the material, read the entire book. Many sections could have information that shows up on the test, so make sure to read thoroughly and carefully.
- 4) Take notes! Writing down the important points of the material will help you to remember and make it easier to review later.
- 5) Use flash cards—they will help you recall information and pick out the basic points of the material.
- 6) Read the material aloud, or teach it to someone else. This technique will help you to remember the information.
- 7) Be familiar with the exam content and format—practice with the study questions provided.

What is the best study environment?

The best study environment is one that is quiet and without distractions. Depending on how you study best, working alone or in small groups can both be effective. Many times, working alone on taking in and remembering information works well, but when dealing with complicated or difficult subjects, group work can be effective.

Also, teaching what you learn to someone else, or even repeating it aloud to yourself, can help you to remember the information. Becoming a CCP is not easy and will require time, attention, dedication, and care! Use the resources available to you through ACA, your friends, and your facility to help you remember important information and do well on your exam.

What types of questions are on the exam?

The CCP exam consists of 200 questions in two different types:

- A. Multiple Choice
- B. True/False

- A. Multiple Choice questions will present the student with four (4) options as a response to the question. Simply choose the best answer of the four.

Tips for Multiple Choice Questions

1. Narrow down the choices—if you are unsure of the correct answer at first, eliminate the choices that you think are not correct and then work with the remaining options
2. When reading through the options, do not stop when you think you have found the correct answer. Make sure to read all the options before choosing the best one.
3. Answer the Question. All four options may be factual statements, but you need to choose the one that best answers the question.
4. Take your time! If you are having trouble with a question, simply mark it and return to it later. It is important to finish the exam and answer the questions that you do know.
5. Use other items and questions on the exam to help you! Some questions in the exam might actually be clues or answers to other questions.
6. Do not be afraid to change your answers! Sometimes more thought or reflection can help lead you to the correct response.

- B. True/False questions will present the student with a statement that s/he must determine to be either accurate (true) or inaccurate (false).

Tips for True/False Questions

1. Be sure to read the entire question. There could be just one word in the question that changes the response from true to false.
2. Again, take your time! Think about the question, do not just mark the answer that comes into your head first.
3. Translate—if the question is complicated or involves difficult words, try to narrow down exactly what it is asking in simple terms, and then respond.

Examples

Below are examples of questions that illustrate the type of questions that can be found on the exam. These questions are designed only to show you the format and logic behind responding to each type of question.

Multiple Choice

1. The part of the criminal justice system responsible for incarcerating convicted offenders is:

- (A) Police
- (B) Corrections
- (C) Legislature
- (D) Courts

The key word in this question is “incarcerating”. All possible responses are parts of the criminal justice system, but only one has the task of incarcerating offenders.

The correct answer is (B) Corrections! Correctional agencies (jails, prisons, etc) are responsible for incarcerating offenders after they have been convicted of a crime.

Answer (A) Police is incorrect because the police are responsible only for enforcing the law, not punishing those who are convicted of crimes.

Answer (C) is incorrect because the legislature makes the law and has no power to carry out the incarceration of the offenders.

Answer (D) is incorrect because the Courts only conduct trials and determine sentences.

True/False

2. A misdemeanor crime carries a penalty of more than one year in prison.

(A) True

(B) False

The key words in this question are “misdemeanor” and “more than one year.” In the United States’ system of justice, crimes are either misdemeanors or felonies. This question is asking you to identify one of the differences between the two types of crimes.

The answer is (B) False. Felony crimes carry penalties of more than one year in prison. Misdemeanor crimes carry a penalty of less than one year.

Sample Exam Questions

Multiple Choice Questions

1. It is important that correctional facilities are routinely inspected for:

A. Unsanitary conditions

B. Signs of lock/cell bar tampering

C. Fire hazards

D. All of the above

The “all of the above” signals that you need to check off the items that are correct answers to the question before selecting the answer.

2. Tom Peters, in his book In Search of Excellence, states basic management principles. Which of the following is included?

A. All workers should be treated with dignity and respect.

B. There are inherent inequalities between workers, and therefore they require different levels of supervision.

C. Management in a correctional environment

D. All of the above

This question only has one item that is correct, which means that “D” is incorrect.

3. Which of the following is the most effective method for identifying offenders with tuberculosis?

A. Sputum AFB smear or culture

B. Urine sample

- C. Chest ultrasound
- D. Mini-MRI

With this type of question, you can identify the answer through the process of elimination. Items B, C, and D are clearly wrong, which leaves A as the correct answer.

4. The 1967 case In re Gault emphasized:
- A. Due process rights for juveniles
  - B. Maintaining accurate records
  - C. Separation of adult and juvenile courts
  - D. The formalization of waivers

This question asks you to recall the key focus of a major U.S. Supreme Court case. You need to study the name of the case, what it was about, and what the Court decided.

5. The Gang Resistance Education and Training (GREAT) program, started in 1991, can be described as:
- 1. Instructing high school students
  - 2. Involving high schools and communities
  - 3. Presenting pro-social behaviors
  - 4. Providing primary prevention

Select the letter below that contains all of the true statements above.

- A. 1, 2, and 3
- B. 1, 2, and 4
- C. 1, 3, and 4
- D. 2, 3, and 4

With this type of question, you need to check off the correct items or numbers before selecting the correct response. In this particular question, number one is incorrect because GREAT targets younger children. Items 2, 3, and 4 are all true. Therefore, you look for the answer “2, 3, and 4,” which is “D.”

6. A CCE should know that the basis of the TQM system for effective management is the “14 Points” developed by W. Edwards Deming. Which of the following did Deming recommend?
- A. Create a consistency of purpose
  - B. Break down barriers between agency units

C. Establish and vigorously enforce work quotas

D. Both "A" and "B" above

The "Both A and B (or other letters)" signals that you need to check off the items that are correct answers to the question before selecting the answer.

True/False Questions

1. A CCS can be held responsible for the actions of a subordinate because of the legal concept of "vicarious liability."

A. True

B. False

With this type of question, you need to read the entire question and then decide whether it is completely true or false. The key term is "vicarious liability", and the issue is whether it applies to correctional supervisors, which it does.

2. In addition to providing informal discipline, it is beneficial for the CCO to discuss and determine the reasons for the offender's misbehavior.

A. True

B. False

In this type of question, you need to identify the key focus of the statement. Here, the focus is whether a correctional officer should talk to an inmate about his/her misbehavior and determine the reasons for it. The answer is yes, which means the answer is True.

3. The use of surveillance technology replaced the need for CCOs to conduct visual inspections.

A. True

B. False

The key focus in this question is that correctional officers do not need to conduct visual inspections because surveillance technology is in use. The answer is clearly false.

Section V: Taking the Exam

What are some tips for taking the test?

- 1) Know when and where the exam will be administered as well as how to get there— this information will help you avoid unnecessary stress on the day of your test! Note: this information is sent to you via e-mail, along with your registration ID number.
- 2) Make sure to get plenty of rest and to have a good breakfast the morning of your exam— rest, relaxation, and food will get your mind working at a high level
- 3) Bring a snack. Taking a short break to eat could help you to be calm and cool.
- 4) Focus! Try your best to ignore distractions in the room (noises, other test takers, etc.). You are here to take and pass the CCP exam; do not let other things bother you.
- 5) Relax! Panicking will not help your cause. Prepare thoroughly, take the test, and do the best you can!
- 6) Monitor your time. After two hours, you should have completed about 100 questions.

What items are allowed/not allowed?

On the day of your exam, there are certain items that students must provide for themselves, items that students may bring, and items that are not allowed in the testing room.

You MUST bring...

1. Your Examination Number (found on your exam authorization letter/e-mail)
2. Photo Identification (driver's license or other government/agency-issued ID)
3. Several sharpened #2 pencils with erasers

You MAY bring...

1. A watch (helpful to keep track of time while taking the exam)
2. A snack (helpful to keep you alert)

You MAY NOT bring...

1. Books or other reference materials
2. Electronic/communication devices—e.g., calculators and laptop computers

The American Correctional Association wishes you the best of luck on your CCP exam!
